“ Sometimes I like a little something extra out of my online gaming. There has been a lot of buzz lately about websites where we can put some cash down on our online gaming for xbox or PS3. I have used several of these sites and thought I would share my experiences with them. Virgin Gaming: <http://virgingaming.com/> Pros: Big cash prizes, automatic reporting Cons: Noobish user base, inconsistent website makes it hard to find a match sometimes Virgin is the biggest player with the most marketing dollars behind their site, but their inconsistent website is buggy and confusing. They have automatic reporting on all matches and a wide selection of games, but there seems to be many low rent players who use the service and its hard to find a good challenge. Rivalspot: <http://www.rivalspot.com/> Pros: Weekly free tournaments with nice prizes, automatic reporting, great website Cons: Still not a lot of users, less games Rivalspot is a newcomer with a lot of potential, but they are still a bit young. They have weekly tournaments posted on their Facebook page where you can play for free and have a reasonable chance at winning a cash prize at the end. I like their blog, where they post a lot of great sports content, and there are a lot of great players who use the site - it is just still starting out so there aren't as many users online at any given time. Gamersaloon: <http://www.gamersaloon.com/> Pros: Easy to find a game, good userbase, good game selection Cons: No automatic reporting Gamersaloon could be a strong player but to me the lack of automated reporting is a deal breaker. I just can't bring myself to trust some guy in some unknown part of the country being honest about the fact that I just pwned him. Overall I always try Rivalspot first - they have the most potential IMHO, and when I can't find a match there I jump on to Virgin. I know there are other similar sites out there, so I was hoping to make this into a thread where we can post about our experiences and maybe hook up for some cash gaming.##imported-begin##Rixotype##imported-end##

“ To Mr. Watkins, Sally Ann & Will - My prayers are with you. From the time I heard about Rick, so many memories have come to mind which have made me laugh. Rick truly is a great friend. We grew up together and shared so much. I believe I will not miss him as much because of the memories I have of our past. May God be with you all during this time of sorrow!###imported-begin###Delbert Southall###imported-end##

“ To the Watkins family - my thoughts and prayers are with you at this most difficult time. I have so many memories of Ric and I really think he got me through high school with that impish grin and devilish sense of humor. There are still so many things in my life that make me think of Ric. I just remember all the times in my blue bug - speeding around Farmville. I am so sorry for your loss. Lis Corrigan###imported-begin###Lis Coppedge Corrigan###imported-end##

“ Many years back, I believe just after Andrew was born, Rick and I had the opportunity to reconnect--we went to PEA together (he a year ahead of me) and later attended Longwood at the same time, often socializing at Tony Perini's Restaurant on High Street. We were both service veterans which is always a brothering bond. Rick had a wonderful sense of humor, and once you got him warmed-up most anything was possible. I had this small green Suzuki SUV which Rick had nicknamed the "Cabbage." Patty Varner invited me to join she, Rick and Rick's wife for a Richmond Braves game. We rode in the Cabbage, ate overpriced hotdogs, heckled the opposing team...it was undoubtedly the most fun I had ever had at a baseball game. I have several fond memories of Rick. My best to his family, rest assured he is already sorely missed.##imported-begin##Kevin P. Hayden##imported-end##

I remember Daddy taking me to the store and I got Peppermint Patties for Will and Ricky and we took them to the house in the avenues. The boys were taking a bath so I just laid them on the side of the tub. We were very young. May your good memories ease your pain. Jenny##imported-begin##Jenny Wood##imported-end##

“ My heart aches for the entire Watkins family but especially for Andrew, Lucas and Kate. They remain the pride and joy of their father who never doubted for a moment how much they loved him and enjoyed his company.
