“ Gail and Family,

Sorry to hear of your loss. Rodd was one of those special people who really made you feel special. Rodd was a great man and had a great presence wherever he was. I recall first meeting him and being impressed with the firm that he founded. He was innovative in providing business solutions, maintained genuine personal relationships with his clients, and acted with integrity. I am forever grateful for the opportunity that he gave me to lead the Firm. Because of who Rodd was, the Firm still bears his name today.

Rodd will be missed. We have lost a great leader.

“ Dear Gail and Family:

My heartfelt condolences go out to you and your family. May your many memories of this great man, and the love of family and friends, assuage your grief at this time.

Rodd was always a friend, mentor and ready ear to me and other members of the firm he founded. His counsel was always true, as was his character. More than once I've started a conversation with him saying, "Rodd, I need some fatherly advice...". I learned much. He will be sorely missed.
