“ Hi Dad, I thought of you on Fathers Day, and wished I could have called. But I couldn't and that is the most horrible part of life. I did go see mom, and she is doing great. She is like a blonde now. She however spends any money I give her, so thanks for the debt...lol... I know you would say, thats your mommy. She misses you, but she is at the absolute best she can be. She is going to come stay with me maybe one night. I would like that and so would she I think. We will have a bb and I have a room for her. I miss you dad..and I lov e you

“ Dear Dad, I would like to think that somehow you know I am thinking of you today. It is early and I am sitting by the tree waiting for everyone to get up. I have a big bag of gifts for mom, and hope she likes them. You know, I sure wish there was a big bag for you. I know you love Christmas and giving and of course getting a few things too. I always remember when you made a wonderful Christmas for Skip, Diana, and Darlene. You got Skip that nice football outfit, and one of the girls a sewing machine. That was so long ago. I wanted Dad to put something on your grave but you are too far away. I wish I had buried you here, by me, by mom, somewhere we would be able to go and just talk to you. I am sorry I was not able to take you to West Virginia, but I should have bought you here Dad. I wish it had been different, I wish I could talk to you in person, and I do miss you so much today. I will never let you down with mom, and do not blame yourself for Nina and Rhonda. Everyone is responsible for their own actions. It is lonely is a way I could never tell you dad without you. In my heart I am sad, and want you here to be able to call, and love. I will do that will mom. We are looking over her...trying to get her to have the best life she can without you. I love you dad!
