“ My fondest childhood memory with my Pappaw was dancing to our favorite songs of the 50's, "Let's Twist Again" and "Long Tall Sally". I remember as a child how fast and funny these songs were to dance to. Ever since then, I have enjoyed listening to the oldies. Whenever I hear the song, "All I have to Do is Dream" by The Everly Brothers I think of him.

I look back now and also remember him proudly taking me to voice lessons. At that time in my life, singing was the most important thing to me... and he made it equally important to him.

I am singing from afar... and thinking of you.

With Love,

Your Granddaughter, Raegan
