“ I lit a green candle for you mama because you loved the Peridot and it was your birthstone. I found the pair of earrings that were green like a Peridot yesterday that I had bought for you while you were in Duke. I'm glad you got to wear them some. I miss you. It doesn't feel like you should be gone but I have watched you hurt for two years especially the last six months and I'm just glad you do not have to suffer any more! Even though I may not have said it, it was my honor to take care of you and love you.

“ *Aunt Sandra,
Thank you for being my friend and excepting me into your family, you were the one I talk with when I felt like I didn't fit in the family, you and I just had this conversation... but I still want the world to know what you did for me... you smiled at me and said I love you.....We had two big trips together and share alot.... God was in the mist of all that... thank you for all the memories... until we meet again.... Misty*

“ Sandi

We worked together for 10 years.

How time flies by and things are forgotten. But not the memories of the craziest things we would do at work.

I will always remember sneaking around Tomlinsons trying to hide from Kevin, while you picked out something new that came in the store.

Taking a hammer to start that old wreck you drove so you could get home.

Our private Birthday parties and fabulous chocolate cake.

You always wanted the cake from "Lowe's" Chocolate Decadence". I do not think I could have a piece and you not be there..

Or the time you hit Marks car right in the parking lot. Oh my Lord. Funny. Well maybe not so funny.

Our private talks about life, family and God.

Your ever changing hairdo.

Your courageous battle is an example for all to follow.

You went to God with much Dignity and Courage and I applaud you for that.

Goodbye My Friend. When I get there we will feast on Chocolate cake once again.

Rest in Peace in Paradise. You deserve the time off. I will miss you. Sandi Dandy.

“ Sandy and I met on a church trip to Greece. She could light up a room with her love of life, humor and southern charm. She was my dear close friend and often talked about her love of family and her strong faith. She inspired me with her wisdom and focus of living each day to the fullest. May God be with you during this time and may He grant you peace in the days to come. Sincerely, Kathy Harris
