Hey honey, I miss you so much. I think about you everyday and am reminded about our plans for when you retired this year. I have a whole in my heart and my soul is empty without you. I miss waking you up each morning, making your lunch, driving you to school and making you dinner each night. I miss us sitting together in our recliners watching TV at night and eating our caramels before you went to bed. I love you honey and will until the day I die and will be with you forever walking the streets of gold. Love you and Happy Valentines Day.
