“ I didn't have Spencer in my third grade homeroom class but at Loris Elementary all of our third graders belonged to all of us. And Spencer was one that everyone just knew. He had that kind of personality. I remember him especially as he would sit waiting to be picked up each afternoon with all of the other car riders. Ninety percent of the time he would be wearing his dad's hunting boots. He had explained to Mrs. Sheila Harrelson in August of that year that he HAD to wear them. You see he and his dad would probably be going hunting on the weekend and he wanted his foot imprints in the shoes so that when they were in the woods he wouldn't have to worry about his feet, but could concentrate on the hunting. "That was what you call breaking in the boots". He'd look at all of the adults in a way that we knew he was surprised that we didn't already know this. He had us all laughing but for the rest of the year everyone understood why Spencer needed to wear those boots. We loved him and his big matter of fact personality. Please know that my thoughts and prayers are with all of the family especially Tiffany, Neil, and Jonah today and in the time ahead.

“ Dear Family,

I am so sorry for your loss. I had the honor to coach Spencer for over two years at Loris High School. He always brought so much joy to the field. I can still picture that big smile on his face and will never forget it. My favorite moment with him came in South Columbus where he hit a deep homerun. His face was priceless. Please let me know if there is anything I can do. May god be with the family...

“ I first met Spencer when he joined our Mount Vernon Cub Scout group, I realized right away that he had common sense and street smarts and was always volunteering to explain things to the other scouts, I enjoyed working with him and appreciated his respect towards me. I later got to spend time with him at Loris Middle as his Substitute Teacher. He was always friendly and willing to help me carry things and tidy up when class was over. He had many friends and was well liked. I am thankful for my memories with Spencer and know we will meet in Heaven someday. God Bless His Family, I pray that God grants you comfort and assurance in your mind that each day you live on this earth means you are one day closer to being with him again. Every day is not a step further away but a step closer, and I know in my heart that when you reach that Heavenly Home, there will be a grand celebration. Our love and hearts are with you right now. I know one thing for sure... he was loved by so many. His attitude and smile was contagious. I will miss him very much. I know Josh will miss him. His heart is aching. Neil, Tiffany, Jonah... No words could describe the way my heart aches for you in your loss. It doesn't seem that long ago that Spencer and Jonah were running around in the day care, just being their little active selves. So glad we were able to share a part of his life. Praying for you that God will give you the strength and comfort you need as you go thru this most difficult time in your lives.
