“ May cherished memories bring you comfort. I loved Tim's beautiful spirit, he was always kind, upbeat and he never met a stranger. I remember the first time I really got to know him. It was the Fourth of July neighborhood cookout we had back in 2018. Everyone came in the front door and out the back door where the party was being held, everyone except for Tim. He said to me, I figured I would hang out with you for a bit, it's a lot of work to have a party and I want you to know how thankful I am that you invited us. He hung out with me in the kitchen, offering help, chatting with me while I gathered and prepared any last minute requirements. But I soon learned that was Tim. Later I saw him beside Art at the grill, hanging out there with the man, stuck cooking on the hot grill on a hot day. Art and I are so grateful and blessed to have known such a wonderful soul. He will be missed.
