“ *Kaye, Becky, and Cindy,
You three girls have been wonderful daughters to your daddy, and to your Mama years ago when she was sick. They must have done something right to bring up three caring and loving daughters. You have been such wonderful sisters, and you have given all of us an example of how we should take care of our parents. Your daddy's first cousins ; your great Uncle Poey's children (Proxie, Cora, and Myrtle, my grandmother) loved your daddy and because of their love for him I knew about him before I ever got to meet him. They would have wanted you to know how much they loved him. Since they are no longer here to say it for themselves, I'm serving as their messenger. I'm sure they are rejoicing that another of their family members is joining them in heaven. You were lucky to have such a caring father, but he was blessed to have such loving daughters. Remember all the good times you shared! I love and admire you all.*
