“ Please accept my condolences for the loss of Mrs. Calhoun. It is so difficult to lose a loved member of the family and community. I have gained encouragement during such times by leaning on God. Through his Word the bible, I have been helped to no longer be ignorant concerning those sleeping in death, who have no hope 1Thes. 4:13. According to the words outlined at Acts 24:15, I have learned to have hope toward the resurrection of both those righteous and unrighteous. This wonderful prospect gives me comfort and hope. It is also encouraging to know that the words of Isaiah 33:24 will soon come to be in that 'no resident will say, I am sick.' These conditions will all be made possible by means of God's kingdom, mentioned at Daniel 2:44. This kingdom is to last to time indefinite and we will finally be able to enjoy life on earth forever, the way God intended. Please read Psalms 37:29. It is my desire that you are strengthened by these words from the bible and consider them for yourselves. May your faith be confirmed in knowing that God cannot lie Titus 1:2. Rely and trust in his words!###imported-begin##Freda##imported-end##
