“ Wayne, How's that 19th hole? I know you and my dad never met, but you both have a lot in common now between Isabelle and Trevor. I hope you both are able to see them now and know how much they love you! Trish, You're strength and commitment this last year is a testament to the love you and Wayne shared. Know that our hearts and blessings are with you at all times. Karey, Kim, and Mom Z., I know what you went through and are still experiencing and I feel blessed that I was able to be a part of it and hopefully help in some small way. I love you all and want to let you know that the pain does ease and Wayne will always be with you. To my wife, Jen, I watched you go through one of the toughest times in your life and you handled it with strength, love, compassion, and dignity. As proud as I am of you and as much as I love you, know that your father loves you and is proud of you, too, and is watching over us now. This is another road that you and I will walk together, and I am glad we can both lean on each other during the journey. I love you very much and am always here for you. Wayne, Baseball has started and spring is around the corner. I went to the Padres game yesterday and sang "Take me out to the Ballgame" for you during the 7th inning stretch! I'll take care of Jen and your grandkids down here easier now knowing you are looking out for them up there. It's an endless spring now, the home team always wins, and all your tee shots land in the fairway! Don###imported-begin###Don###imported-end##

“ Hello Dad, It's me -- your middle daughter. This is so hard for me. Everyone keeps telling me to remember the good times, but is knowing that we won't be sharing anymore of those for a while that hurts. I was telling Kim and Karey that "you don't know what you've got until it's gone". But the way I like to look at it is Heaven didn't know what they had until you left -- you had to go back. I think back to when I first heard about your cancer and I said to myself, "No, that's not my Dad" Also when the Dr.'s told you there was no cure I said, "That's not my Dad to believe them. He'll be fine." Then as I rushed into the hospital and saw you lying there with all those machines I cried and said, "NO, THAT'S NOT MY DAD!!!" It wasn't until I was standing by your side as you passed and Grandpa took off all those ugly machines that I saw you look so beautiful and so peaceful. I gave you a big hug and said so proudly, "Now that's my Dad!" I'm still having a hard time understanding that you're not coming back. Where is that funny guy who was just telling the nurse to set his meatloaf on his nightstand? Where is the man who left his slippers on the side of his bed, his reading glasses in the magazine rack, and his grandkids Easter baskets in his garage? I want him back! One more hug, one more call telling me how proud of me you are or that you just bought out the entire Care Bear and Sports section of Toys'R'Us for Isabelle and Trevor. One more time to tell you again just how much you mean to me and I love you. Each day I pass your picture I think to myself, "Wow, Isabelle is right -- Grandpa is an angel." I know from now on no matter what I do, good or bad, I can go to that picture and have you right there to help guide me. Thanks for always smiling back at me Dad. I love you!
Your daughter forever, Jen###imported-begin###Jen

I'll be here hoping to feel your hand in mine as I walk on the beach for both of us until I can be with you and we'll walk for eternity. Your loving wife

“ KAREY- WORDS CANNOT EXPLAIN HOW SORRY I AM ABOUT YOUR FATHER. AS YOU KNOW IT HAS BEEN ABOUT FIVE YEARS SINCE I LAST SAW HIM, BUT I REMEMBER THE LAST TIME I DID SEE HIM, HE BROUGHT ME A CARD AND A BOX OF CHOCOLATES TO CONGRATULATE ME ON THE BIRTH OF KAYLA. AND DIFFERENT TIMES HE WOULD BRING THE OFFICE STAFF OVER CHIPS AND SODA BECAUSE HE FELT BAD WE WERE INSIDE WORKING ON A BAUTIFUL SUMMER DAY. HE TRULY WAS THE FIRST FRIEND I MADE WHEN I MOVED TO THIS AREA AND I WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER WHAT A NICE PERSON HE WAS. I STILL REMEMBER THE DAY HE BECAME A GRAMPA FOR THE FIRST TIME. HE WAS SO PROUD. I WILL ALWAYS BE HERE FOR YOU, EVEN IF YOU JUST NEED TO TALK.YOU ARE IN MY THOUGHTS AND PRAYERS EVERY DAY. MAY GOD BLESS. KRISSIE###imported-begin###KRISSIE YACANO###imported-end##

“ We were truly saddened to read about Wayne's passing in the newspaper. Our heart-felt condolences are extended to your entire family. We know Wayne from World Tour and have kept abreast of his health status through Joel, Andy, and Harry. We would tease him and his cohorts about their golf game as they were signing in at the Clubhouse within minutes of finishing a hard day of work on the golf course. He will be missed. Each night at dinner we have prayed for his recovery but regretfully it was not to be. We pray that as time passes, the void that you folks now feel will be replaced with pleasant memories. Again, our deepest sympathy to you all. Jean Bouton Don Brady###imported-begin###Jean Bouton/Don Brady###imported-end##
